Reconfiguring Class and Gender: Working Papers from the 2002-2003 Seminar presents abridged versions of work in progress by participants in the sixth annual interdisciplinary seminar offered by the Institute for Research on Women in close cooperation with the the Institute for Women's Leadership, a consortium at Douglass College, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey comprising the Center for American Women and Politics, Center for Women and Work, Center for Women's Global Leadership, Douglass College, the Women's and Gender Studies Department, and the Institute for Research on Women.

The 2002–2003 IRW/IWL Seminar was made possible by generous funding from the Offices of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences, New Brunswick. Their investment augmented and continued the crucial support provided to the Institute for Women's Leadership by the Ford Foundation in its initial years and, more recently, to the Institute for Research on Women by the Rockefeller Foundation (1999–2003).
